

About the show: “Christmas In Paradise”

Type of comedy: Holiday Comedy

Plot: A freak snowstorm strands some spoiled, well-to-do New Yorkers in an Amish farmhouse. It’s one of the funniest, sweetest Christmas stories ever written and everyone will walk away with a better understanding of what we cherish most, especially at the holidays: love, family and the belief that something greater guides us all. It’s a winner of Rainbow’s 21st century play writing competition and it’s back by popular demand!

Situations: Conflicts between the modern world and the simple Amish way of life is explored.

Language: None.

We think this play is suitable for: All audiences. Everyone who likes a comedy that teaches us what’s important about the holidays, and what should be important every day of our lives.

We think you should avoid this play if: ...Nope. Can’t think of a single reason. You should come see it.

If this were a movie, it would be rated: G